

Wayne Toews     conductor@sasktel.net     <http://www.conductorschool.com>

A note about the audition etudes

These etudes were written to provide progressively difficult technical and musical challenges. The parts can be played together so that the director can teach the etude to a band class. Some parts have been altered slightly to make the etude more practical on individual instruments. I hope that young band musicians find this useful for improving technique and for Honour Band auditions. I welcome your suggestions for changes and improvements.

February 2006